ASSEMBLY OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS BEGINS FIRST MEETING IN GENEVA

Paul Hymans Chosen President With 35 Out of Possible 41 Votes—President Motta of Switzerland Welcomes Delegates—Englishman Sits for South Africa.

Geneva, Nov. 15.—Despite non-participation by the United States delegates to the first meeting of the assembly of the league of nations today announced their readiness to at once take hold of the world problems of the future. The future of the league may hinge upon the outcome of the present meeting.

Paul Hymans, Belgian foreign minister, was chosen president of the session. The vote was: M. Hymans, 35; President Motta of Switzerland, 16; Leon Bourgeois of France, 1. Standing behind a cheap wooden desk, with a background of potted palms, Foreign Minister Paul Hymans of Belgium rapped for order shortly after 11 o'clock and the meeting was under way.

"The hopes of millions of peoples of all nations are upon us as we begin our labors here today," said M. Hymans. The end of history's greatest conflict has left the world exhausted and full of doubts and fears. We commence a new world era in which men hope to settle savorily and in all reasonableness their differences and to end armed quarrels.

Delegates on Hand Early. Most of the delegates of the forty-one nations represented were in their seats an hour or so before the meeting was called to order. They occupied plain wooden benches like those of an American school room.

TROTSKY'S FORCES OVERRUN CRIMEA

Winnipeg's Defeat Complete—Soviet Claim Capture of 40,000 Prisoners At Perekop—Refugees Congest Constantinople—Allied Ships Patrol Coast.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Constantinople, Nov. 15.—The Russian soviet army, under personal command of Leon Trotsky, commissaire for war, has overrun all of Crimea, following the crushing defeat of General Wrangel's anti-bolshevik forces.

The allies are blockading the Russian Black Sea coast. Russian torpedo boats are patrolling the coast. Refugees are pouring into Constantinople from Sebastopol. Five thousand wounded soldiers from General Wrangel's army have arrived. They report the fighting along the Crimean battle front raged with terrific fury for days before the allies finally broke through. They accused the soviet troops of giving no quarter.

It is claimed that 30,000 red soldiers were killed when the reds advanced by storm the first line of defense of General Wrangel's army along the northern border of Crimea at Perekop. The soviet army claims the capture of 40,000 prisoners in the battle of Perekop. Premier Krivchenko, of General Wrangel's de facto government, who arrived on Saturday, today issued an appeal for the Crimean fugitives. The premier has suffered a complete nervous collapse.

Refugees say the southern ports of Crimea are scenes of indescribable confusion.

French May Regret Recognition.

London, Nov. 15.—The annihilation of General Wrangel's army in southern Russia will strengthen the soviet government at Moscow, in the opinion of the Daily Express. In commenting on the situation today, the newspaper said: "The French may well be sorry for their efforts in behalf of General Wrangel's forces in the Crimea, which has only availed to make the soviet regime more secure."

WHITNEY DENIES WIFE MURDER

By Telegram to The Freeman. Newport, N. H., Nov. 15.—A. B. Whitney, prosperous farmer, town official and church man, whose farm in Langdon is being searched for the body of his ex-wife, an Ohio girl, arrived here today for arraignment in custody of Sheriff Hewitt of Richmond, Maine, in which town Whitney was arrested yesterday on an indictment-warrant charging forgery.

On the journey from Maine, Whitney denied to the sheriff that he was guilty of forgery or of the murder of his former wife, whom his 15 year old son charges he killed and cast into a well. He says she left Langdon four years ago for Ohio and was going from there to Oklahoma. Whitney was accompanied by his third wife, a New Hampshire woman he married last week and by the woman's 12 year old son. They had bought a farm in Maine.

FATAL MOVIE EXIT WAS LOCKED

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, Nov. 15.—Six children dead, a dozen others seriously injured, all because of a locked exit that should have been open, led authorities today to issue stern warnings to proprietors of moving picture theaters. An ordinance which prohibits children under 16 from entering movie shows unless accompanied by adults is to be enforced, and will be vigorously enforced, the authorities announced.

MURT IN RUNAWAY.

Harry Murray, Well Known Fish Peddler, Injured Sunday.

Harry Murray, the well known fish peddler, was brought to police headquarters Sunday afternoon by Dr. Daniel Connolly, who said that Murray had been brought to the Kingston City Hospital by a man who had picked Murray up on the Flatbush road. Murray had sustained a bad cut on the head. It is thought that he was injured in a runaway. The police later located his home at Smith's brickyard, and notified Mr. Murray where he could obtain the animal.

PELL VICTIM TO A VAMP'S WILES

Robert Long's Rapid Rise in Restaurant Business in Detroit Ended Abruptly With Appearance of a Siren on Scene, and He Decamped With $500—Arrested Here.

Robert Long, 17 years old, of No. 528 Broadway, who was arrested by the local police department a few days ago on a warrant issued after an indictment for embezzlement, was taken from the county jail this morning by an officer from Michigan and taken to Detroit where he will be placed on trial.

Back of that paragraph lies the story of Long's rapid rise in the restaurant business in Detroit, and its sudden ending with the appearance of a siren on the scene, and her approved movie methods of vamping which led to Long decamping with $500, although Long claims that he was held up and robbed of the money.

Long is well known in this city where he had spent his boyhood, and his record here was unblemished as far as known. He decided some time ago to seek his fortune in other fields and finally reached Detroit where he obtained a job in a big night and day restaurant. Young in years he started in the humblest position that of an omnibus boy, whose duties were to clear off the dishes from the tables. He worked faithfully, and his services were such that the proprietor promoted him to waiter, and finally to night manager of the restaurant.

About this time in Long's business career he acquired a lady friend and to properly enjoy her company found it necessary to spend real money. From what can be learned Long evidently plunged deeper than his pay envelope would warrant, and then probably still led by the siren he decided to make a thorough job of it and one day disappeared with the entire day's receipts of the restaurant, about $500. In order to leave no cent behind him in his flight he even took the pennies that had accumulated in the cash register, which he had to place in a bag as they were too heavy to carry in his pocket.

Where the money went is a mystery, for when he reached Kingston he was entirely destitute, but which could probably be explained by the lady siren who had so successfully vamped him. Long, however, has shouldered the entire responsibility of the crime, and to date has refused to divulge the lady's name, or whether she got any of the stolen money or not.

FORD CAR TURNED OVER; FOUR HURT

Middletown Men Met With Accident On Way to Visit Kingston Lodge of Moose—Two Had Ribs Broken.

Sunday afternoon James Saunders of Middletown, accompanied by John P. Cassidy, Louis Williams and George Gibbs, all of the same city, drove to Kingston in Saunders's Ford touring car. While driving up the Broadway hill about 1 o'clock that afternoon Saunders tried to pass another car on the hill and drove in the trolley tracks and his car skidded and shot toward the left hand side of the road hitting the curb and turning over on the side-walk.

The men were removed to the Benedictine Sanitarium by Dr. John P. Larkin in his car, where it was found that Saunders and Cassidy had sustained broken ribs, and Williams was cut about the head. Gibbs escaped with an abrasion of the head and a shaking up. The accident occurred at Broadway and Stuyvesant street. The Ford car was badly damaged and it was thought at first that it had struck the stone retaining wall along that side of Broadway.

Later all four men after having their injuries attended to left the Sanitarium and returned to Middletown. They had driven to Kingston to visit Kingston Lodge of Moose. The Ford car was taken to Van's Garage for repairs.

KINGSTON BARGE CANAL TERMINAL AGAIN BECOMES STRONG PROBABILITY

N. Y. State Waterways Association Urges its Construction and Mayor Believes Bill Will Pass and People Approve.

Mayor Canfield has returned from Buffalo where he attended the annual convention of the New York State Waterways Association of which he is a member of the executive committee. The main subjects considered were the Barge Canal, the Hudson river, the objections to the proposed St. Lawrence ship canal project and hydro-electric development.

The mayor spoke at the Friday session on the subject, "The Hudson River as a Waterway." He emphasized the need for the development and equipment of the terminals at Kingston, Poughkeepsie, Newburgh and Tonawanda. A resolution introduced by him approving these terminals and urging their completion was reported upon favorably by the resolution committee of which he was a member and unanimously adopted. The mayor presided at the

TRAIN BANDITS BEING SOUGHT

By Telegram to The Freeman. Omaha, Neb., Nov. 15.—Post office inspectors, the police forces of Council Bluffs and Omaha today are seeking clues that might enable them to run down bandits who robbed the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy fast mail train between Council Bluffs and Omaha.

Reports of the amount of loot obtained vary today. It is the opinion of officers working on the case today that it will total $100,000. Railway officials declare it will not exceed $20,000.

Ten pouches of registered mail were taken, some of them consigned to Chicago. It is believed that these pouches contained shipments of gold, currency, bonds and stocks, being sent by banks in California to their correspondents in eastern cities. The value of the loot will not be definitely known until these shipments are traced and evaluated.

The robbery was discovered late Saturday night when a postal clerk was found chained to the floor of his car. It occurred between the Union Pacific transfer at the western edge of Council Bluffs and the Burlington city depot, on the southeastern edge of the city.

The stolen treasure left San Francisco on a Union Pacific train and was transferred to the Burlington route at Omaha.

THE REV. J.M. DEYO AT FIRST DUTCH

The Reverend John M. Deyo, a distinguished clergyman of Danbury, Connecticut, who occupied the pulpit of the First Dutch Church on Sunday, preached a notable sermon to a large and appreciative audience upon "High-Top Values," they being, he said, the values which count spiritually and eternally.

Reverend Deyo, should be something more than a comfort to humanity, it was not intended to be a narcotic, but an inspiration. We read and hear of so much that is debasing, it was so easy to drift into a sordid life, that more and more the world turned to religion as the great antidote to the tendency to degeneration and degradation, and notwithstanding the ceaseless and daily seeks to cultivate that which is fine and good. He paid a glowing tribute to the work of the Red Cross, saying that those who thought and acted that men and women had become hardened, calloused and made selfish by the world war had but to consider what the Red Cross had done and daily unselfishly was doing.

Dr. Deyo is of Huguenot ancestry, being a descendant of the New England patroon of that name, and therefore related by blood to many Ulster county people. An impressive feature of the service was the singing of the Marseillaise, the large congregation standing at attention during its rendition. Next Sunday the preacher will be one of the professors of the theological seminary at New Brunswick. It is evident that the people of the First Dutch fully intend that its long sustained position in the religious world shall not suffer from lack of men of distinction in its historic pulpit.

TWO HURT WHEN AUTO HIT WAGON

William Schipp and Alphonse Brown, both of Marlborough, were injured about seven o'clock Saturday night when a Ford sedan operated by Schipp ran in a heavy lumber box wagon on the state road near Marlborough and was overturned.

An automobile which arrived at the scene a few minutes later brought both men to the Benedictine Sanitarium, where Drs. William J. and John G. Leary were waiting to attend to their injuries. Schipp became unconscious after reaching the sanitarium, but was much better on Sunday and able to leave for his home. He complained that the sight of his left eye was affected but the doctors believe there will not be any permanent impairment, the trouble being only temporary and due to shock.

Brown at first was thought to have suffered a fracture of the skull but later was determined to have had concussion of the brain, he was unconscious on Sunday but this morning was greatly improved and had regained consciousness.

OPERATION MAY SAVE GRAY'S LIFE

Piece of Bone Removed From Skull Of Young Man Injured In Motorcycle Accident a Week Ago—Condition Much More Favorable.

An operation performed on Saturday at the Benedictine Sanitarium may save the life of George Gray of Glenford, who was injured in a motorcycle accident on the Plank road near this city on Saturday evening, November 6. Gray and his brother, Ronald Gray, were on their way to Kingston when the accident occurred in which Ronald was killed and George received a fracture of the skull. The cause of the accident has not yet been solved.

On Friday George Gray had a relapse and on Saturday a consultation was had by Drs. H. P. Van Wageningen, William J. and John G. Leary, Frank L. Eastman, Mark O'Meara and William J. Cranston, at which an operation on the skull was decided on as a last means of saving the young man's life. The operation was performed by Drs. O'Meara and Van Wageningen, a piece of bone being removed from the skull and the brain being drained. His chance for recovery is much more favorable.

CHILD LAWS NEED REVISING

The regular monthly meeting of the Ulster county committee of the State Charities Aid Association was held Friday at the office of the county agency.

The meeting was unusually well attended and was addressed by Miss H. Ida Curry, superintendent of the county agency department of the State Charities Aid Association, and Senator Walton on the subject of laws concerning children.

These laws are mixed with all kinds of legislation through many codes and are so hard to find and often so indefinite and unsatisfactory when found that the state legislature recently appointed a commission, which is headed by Senator Walton, to study these laws and suggest a plan for putting them in a model condition.

As the county agency throughout the state have had much experience, the State Charities Aid Association is making a study of the practical workings of the laws and ask for the cooperation and help of all those who have had experience and can give suggestions.

Mr. Harshbarger, county superintendent of the poor, Mr. Edmondson, city superintendent of the poor, and Miss Davis, the county agent for children, all told of their experience and difficulties, showing the great need of change in our laws.

REPUBLICANISM OF 1920.

Finely Printed Volume of Great Interest and Usefulness. "Republicanism of 1920," edited by Frank Hendrix and published by the Albany Evening Journal, is a volume of 257 pages, handsomely illustrated and printed in the highest style. The principles of Republicanism are traced from the Mayflower Compact, through various phases of development, surroundings and opposition down to date, and there are articles on "The Standard Bearer of Republicanism," from John Marshall and Theodore Roosevelt, written by such men as Elihu Root, Albert J. Beveridge, Chancellor Day and General Leonard Wood. Platforms of the Republican party from 1856 to 1920 are given and statistics of American politics from 1856 to the beginning of the 1920 campaign are recorded. Unfortunately the book was printed a little too early to include the new record for Republicanism established in the 1920 election returns. As a book of reference this volume is invaluable.

The speakers for the week are as follows: Monday, the Rev. O. A. Merriam; Tuesday, Salvation Army in charge; Wednesday, Mr. Safford; Y. M. C. A. secretary, Thursday, the Rev. G. E. Wright of Fort Evans; Friday, the Rev. W. N. Lofthouse of Walden.

Supper in Holy Cross Hall.

The Index of the Altar Guild of Holy Cross Church are working hard to make their children's play supper, which they will hold Thursday, November 18, from 5 to 8 p. m., a thorough success. With Mrs. Thomas Dwyer as caterer, the supper will be an epicurean delight. Potatoes, green peas, a salad, cranberries and apples "the fixings" will be served with the chicken pie, the whole to be topped off with any sort of home made jam that the patron's appetite may fancy.

POUNDS OF BLOOD

Every healthy adult should have a definite quantity of rich, red blood coursing through their veins.

Pepto-Mangan Makes Red Blood
Builds up men and women who lack energy.

A healthy, full-grown person has in the neighborhood of fourteen pounds of blood in his or her body. The weight of the blood varies with different people, but it should not vary with the individual.

For instance, if the normal weight of your blood is twelve pounds, and it falls off a pound in weight, it is one of the most precious pounds in the world and should be immediately regained.

To turn weak, watery blood into live, red, health-building blood, take Gude's Pepto-Mangan.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan is an absolutely dependable red-blood builder in all conditions of lowered vitality not due to serious disease of the vital organs. It improves the appetite, imparts color to the cheeks, and creates new hope and ambition in those who have become pale, weak, and listless. Physicians recommend Gude's Pepto-Mangan. When you order, be sure the word "Gude's" is on the package. Without "Gude's" it is not Pepto-Mangan. Furnished in both liquid and tablet form. For sale by all druggists—Advertisement.

Government Makes Interesting Test

Department of Agriculture Shows That Moths Cannot Exist in Properly Constructed Cedar Chests.

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 15, 1920. The United States department of agriculture recognizes the great value of cedar chests in preserving clothes from the moth danger as a result of experiments conducted by the department and extending over two years' time.

According to the government report a number of adult moths were placed from time to time in cedar chests, and cloth was also placed in the chests for feeding purposes. Nevertheless the moths all died without leaving any eggs behind, and a minimum amount of feeding was done. Similar tests made with trunks instead of cedar chests resulted in the rapid multiplication of the moths.

The report deduced that "the result of these tests indicates that adult moths and young cloth moth larvae are killed when stored in a cedar chest."

Basing their claims on this unbiased government report, the Acme Manufacturing Company has started a campaign to acquaint the public in the proper method of preserving clothes. In view of the high prices paid for all garments in the past few years, the Acme officials feel justified in boosting the sale of their famous cedar chests as a necessary economy in any household.

CALL WORKERS

The fourth annual Red Cross roll call is now in progress, and the people of Kingston and the outlying districts of the county are asked to be fully prepared to renew their membership in the Red Cross, or if not now members to become so, when the team workers of their ward or district call upon them. In order that the workers may not have to call two or three times at a house, if people will be out during the time that the workers might be called upon, they are asked to leave the money for their membership with who ever may be at home.

It should not be necessary to urge the people of Kingston and Ulster county to join the Red Cross, for the Red Cross is so deeply enmeshed in the hearts of Ulster county folks that they will want to continue or increase their support, especially considering the splendid work being done in the county right now by the Red Cross.

There is one man in Kingston who is deeply interested in the outcome of this fourth Red Cross roll call, though his name has not appeared as an officer or worker, and that man is A. E. Clark of Fair street, for his son is in charge of the entire Red Cross roll call for the United States, this being his third year in this responsible position. Naturally Mr. Clark wants his home city and county to make a good showing in the national campaign.

Genesis of the Traveling American May Be Pretty Well Recognized by His Speech.

A survey just completed shows that 33 languages are in daily use in New York, not including three or four kinds of English. There is highbrow English, lowbrow English and the R-less variety, besides the strange, inexplicable cockney kind, which gives all "er" sounds the sound of "ol." We say inexplicable, for we have never seen explained why in certain New York vernacular third is "thoid," bird is "bird" and curse is "hoise."

Sometime, somewhere, that enunciation must have begun—whether on the Downy or in Harlem or even in Broadway, nobody seems to know. Was it in existence in 1800? The New York literature of that era does not seem to so indicate. The converse of the boot-blacks and juvenile street sweepers of the mid and innocuous action of these days reveal almost a Sunday school diction. "The house" has swept over Manhattan since then. It came with the melting pot and may be part of it, for all we know.

The United States is large enough to contain a number of dialects and already it does contain them, so that one's general is pretty well distinguished by his speech. We know New England by its "fuffin" laugh and they know us by our "fuffin" one. "Ask" to some parts of the South is "tuke," while still remaining "ask" in Massachusetts.

Our pluribus unum language is truly that kind, and likely to become more pluribus as the country grows older.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

TOMBS THAT ARE INDIVIDUAL

Resting Places of Chinese Rulers So Constructed as to Reveal Character of Occupants.

At the Tung Ling, or Eastern Tombs of the Manchus, nature has worked hand in hand with man to produce a harmonious whole, writes Roy Chapman Andrews in Asia Magazine. Most of the tombs about the tombs have been planned, but they have been so cleverly chosen and placed that they look as if they had grown just where, in nature's scheme of things, they ought to be. There is nothing glaringly artificial in the appearance of the park.

Although the tombs are all in one plan, they are at the same time so individual as to show the character of the occupant. Each is a subtle expression of the character of the one who sleeps beneath the yellow roof. The tomb of Chien-Lung, the great conqueror, is not far away from that of the emperor Kanghi. Pretty, beautiful in its simplicity, it is an indication of his life and death. In striking contrast to the palace built by the emperor for his eternal dwelling, the tomb is a simple, unadorned, unobtrusive structure. Resolution Unanimously Adopted by the Board of Governors of the Investment Bankers' Association of America, October 3, 1920.

"Whereas, sound and constantly expanding public utilities are essential to the welfare and prosperity of the communities served:

"Whereas, the conditions resulting from the war have increased the costs of utility operation and of new money required for expansion, and prevented the growth of utility service to meet the increasing requirements of the public and of industry:

"Whereas, there is a recognized shortage of electrical power, and it is of vital importance to the industries of the country that means be found for providing additional power supply:

"Whereas, the street railway systems are so tied into the business of the nation that their rehabilitation, maintenance and growth must be permitted and provided by the public dependent on their efficient service:

"Whereas, the telephone and telegraph have become so important in our daily business and social life that they must extend their service daily to meet the public demands:

"Whereas, the diminishing coal resources and the increasing demands on the oil supplies throw additional burdens on the gas industries which can be met only by their expansion:

"Therefore be it Resolved: That it is the sense of the Board of Governors of the Investment Bankers' Association of America that there should be cooperation between the investment bankers, and the owners and operators of utilities, and the regulating officials, in laying before the public full information respecting the vital importance of prompt and continuing expansion of all kinds of utility service, and in encouraging such utility regulation as will provide sound credit as the basis for financing, to the end that the investing public may provide the necessary funds by investment in sound public utility securities:

"Be it further Resolved: That copies of this resolution be sent to the Governors and the regulating authorities of the several states."

of the great. But a hundred years from now when Chien-Lung's mausoleum, like the painting of an old master, has been made even more beautiful by the touch of age, that of the empress will be worn and tarnished.

Young Author Falls Down.

A young author sends me the manuscript of a story. He claims to be a new idea. His "new idea" is this: A young man and woman are married in the usual way, and during their honeymoon, love each other with great devotion.

But in a year the young man finds he has tired of his wife, from seeing her so much; from too close association. He supposes, of course, that she has not tired of him; such a possibility does not enter his mind. However, he resolves to be a square man and confess to his wife just how he feels. She also talks frankly, and it develops that the wife is as tired of the husband as the husband is of the wife.

I am compelled to remark to the young author that this is no development of a new fact in life.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

From Frying to Flying.

Aviation is occupying a great deal of attention in Canada these days. It is highly probable that the helium gas rising out of the ground in Alberta and other parts of western Canada and used in parts of the country for family cooking will one day be carrying English lighter-than-air flying machines, says Motor Life. It has been reported that there is enough of this gas to supply the entire British empire for many years. It lacks only 10 per cent of the weight-supporting ability of the highly inflammable hydrogen and is equally satisfactory.

Vain Acquisitions.

"Some men gets a heap of education," remarked an old colored philosopher, "just as some people gets a whole lot of built without ketchin' any fish."—Boston Transcript.

Dwelling to spell her family's love checked-palm of a double wedding, pretty Mrs. Mary O'Connor, daughter of Captain Peter M. O'Connor, of Cork county, Ireland, was married last evening at a grand dinner on the occasion of the wedding of her sister. The double wedding was a complete success. The photograph shows, standing, J. H. O'Connor and Dennis Johnson; seated, left to right, Mrs. O'Connor and Mrs. Johnson.

NON-ALCOHOLIC

Vermouth

MOUQUIN'S Vermouth has the fine blending qualities and flavor of the old time Indian Vermouth. The only real difference is that Mouquin's is non-alcoholic.

It is a perfectly legal beverage with a perfectly delightful taste.

If your grocer doesn't have it, let us know.

12,000,000 bushels the previous largest crop of 1917, nearly half of the yield being grown in Louisiana. Alabama was the leading producer of the bumper sweet potato crop. California was first and New York second in the production of pears, the fifth and last of the record-breaking crops. As the six other crops that nearly equal the record include apples, the present high retail price of that indispensable fruit ought to decline enough to gratify the thousands who hold that "an apple a day keeps the doctor away."

MATTERS BEFORE SURROGATE GILL

Letters of administration on the estate of the late Anna E. Williams of the town of Esopus have been granted by Surrogate Gill in the surrogate's court to her husband, John T. Williams. The value of the personal property is $150 and there is no real estate. Henry E. McKenzie appeared for the administrator.

A hearing was had in the matter of the judicial settlement of the fourth intermediate account of proceedings of Frederick S. Duncan and Ralph N. Voorhis as testamentary trustees for the benefit of Altha C. Beaufort, formerly Altha Covey Dimick, and others under the will of the late Jeremiah W. Dimick of the town of Esopus, and a decree passing and approving the account was granted by Surrogate Gill. The account shows that the trustees have disbursed with $517,617.34. Their disbursements from the time of the former decree amounted to $9,439.61, and the balance on hand at the time of filing their account was $418,177.73. John H. Hilliard of New York city appeared for the trustees; Harries A. Mumma of New York city, and Judge Clearwater and Frederick Stephen, Jr., of this city for other interested parties.

In the estate of Edward Jones of Ashokan, an inventory of personal property was filed. Burton A. Coons is the administrator.

In the matter of proving the will of Ben S. Johnson, also sometimes known as Benjamin S. Johnson of this city, an order for publication of the citation was granted. Milton O. Auchmoody appeared for Jacob Johnson, the executor.

A "WHITE" AUSTRALIA.

California, Oregon and the State of Washington are not alone in regarding the Japanese as a menace which must be provided against. There is even greater alarm in Australia, if we are to judge from a recent speech of Premier Hughes before the Australian House of Representatives. Japan is over crowded and lacking in colonial possessions to receive the overflow. Millions of its people must seek foreign pastures or face virtual starvation. Consequently they have an eye on and a foothold in our Pacific coast region. They have also an eye on and a foothold in Australia, where, as in California, they cause alarm, not by misbehavior in the ordinary sense, but by slaying at their work, making drudges of their families, living on next to nothing, cutting the market, and thus crowding to the wall even their industrious white rivals, who are confronted with an industrial competition which they can not meet.

What this means ultimately is that the Japs will fall heirs to the country—if they are allowed—and the whites will be driven out; a higher civilization will succumb to the thriftiness of a lower. Or so the Australians foresee and so the Californians are beginning to fear. This explains the demand of Premier Hughes for a "white Australia."

Ordinarily the solution would be simple. A nation has the right to bar out, undesirable immigrants, keeping its land for its own people and such foreigners as it chooses to welcome. The difficulty is that Australia is a part of the British Empire, just as California is a part of the United States, and London, like Washington, has entered into treaties granting powerful Japan "most favored nation" rights. And just what is going to be done about it, either in the case of Australia or of California, nobody seems to know.

WONDERFUL CROPS.

Agricultural production in general is gratifying, but certain crops are truly wonderful. The yields this year of corn, rice, sweet potatoes, tobacco and pears surpass in size those of any previous year in the country's history, and white potatoes, oats, barley, rye and apples closely approach the previous highest records. Corn, of which this country produces 75 per cent of the world's yield, reached the vast total of 3,199,129,000 bushels, 75,000,000 bushels above the highest previous record. Three million bushels having been exceeded only in 1912 and in 1917. Iowa produced the largest corn crop, Illinois ranks second, Nebraska third, and then follow, in the order of their production, Missouri, Indiana, Texas, Ohio, Kansas, Minnesota, South Dakota and Kentucky. But, owing to a decline in the price, the money value of this country's corn crop will not equal that of several earlier crops.

The yield of tobacco is 57,000,000 pounds—greater than last year's record-breaking crop. Virginia and the Carolina all exceeded their last year's production. Rice exceeds by

HUNGER STRIKERS RECOVER FAST

Cork, Nov. 15.—The nine Sinn Féin hunger strikers who voluntarily ended their fast last Friday, after going 93 days without food in Cork jail, were much stronger today and have already begun to take on flesh. They were given their first cooked food today. Tomorrow they will be given some boiled chicken.

Physicians who have assisted in the treatment of hunger strikers said it was a phenomenon of medical science that the prisoners were able to take nourishment and digest it so easily after long abstinence from food. It was feared that the men might suffer a nervous collapse, but they have been sleeping peacefully and gaining strength steadily.

The first nourishment administered was baby food, such as is given to a six months old infant. Then a little glucose was given. This was followed by a teaspoonful of meat juice diluted with water. After this the men received more baby food with a small biscuit and glucose. This was followed after some hours by a double teaspoonful of jelly and water. Three hours later more baby food was administered. The Sunday menu was a little stronger.

Dr. Pearson, the jail physician, and his assistant, Dr. Battiscombe, said they were "groping on uncharted seas" in trying to rescue the men.

"All nine were virtually at the point of death when they finally yielded," said Dr. Pearson. "We had no precedents to guide us so we had to form our own rules. We worked upon the principle that the men's stomachs were as frail from disuse as the stomach of a six or nine months old infant. Our plan was successful."

Raid Crop Game. Sunday the police raided a crop game in Ludlum's woods, but some one had tipped the gang off and all that was captured was a boy's cap and some small change.

Definition of Suede.

This name, given to a kind of undressed kid leather, is simply the French word for "Sweden." The value of this is supposed to have originated in Sweden and it was applied at first to kid and not to calfskin. The process of making it involves buffing on an emery wheel the flesh side of the leather, so as to produce a sort of nap or velvet surface. Some makers of leather adopt a different process, buffing or scouring off the grain side of the leather to produce the nap.

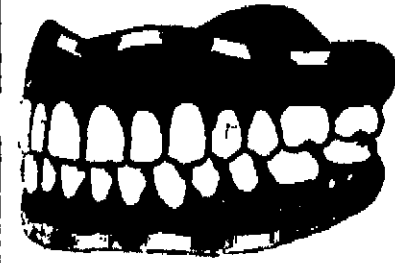

Asbestos.

The earliest use of asbestos was for spinning and weaving, to make incombustible thread and yarn, rope and cloth, and this has continued to be the most important use of asbestos ever since the days of the Greeks and Romans. Only the best grades can be used for this purpose, according to J. S. Diller of the United States geological survey, department of the interior. Thread can now be spun so fine that it will run about 32,000 feet to the pound.

Choice of Topics.

"These roads are in terrible condition," exclaimed Mr. Chubbin. "You're lucky," remarked Farmer Cornwell. "Most of the automobiles who get this far are so busy looking for a blacksmith shop or a garage that they don't have time for friendly conversation 'bout the roads."

ST. PETER'S MINSTREL TONIGHT

This evening at St. Peter's Hall the Glee Club of the parish will present a minstrel novelty entitled "A Trip to Cuba." The performance will begin at eight o'clock. Those who witnessed the last entertainment of this kind at St. Peter's are sure that this will prove just as creditable an exhibition of amateur minstrelsy.

Embarked on the trusty ship "Rock and Rye," manned by the skipper Ed Scherer, "an old salt of Roundout creek," and his mate, Frank Letrey, a "dyed in the wool" mariner, always at sea, and the likely crew—Bob Brown, Bob Buchanan, Will Houghtaling and John Spader, all experienced in handling schooners. Everything points to an enjoyable trip. Those of us, as well as the numerous audience, need have no fear of seasickness. The program is as follows:

Opening Chorus: Entire Company
"Love Me," duet by Glenford Kraus and Miss Pauline Brader
"If You Could Care For Me," Henry Fisher
"Moonshine on the Moonshine," Ed Scherer
"Alice's Blue Gown," Miss Agnes Bruck
"Georgia Moon," Harry Zellmer and Glee Club Quartet, Messrs. G. Kraus, J. Raible, M. Flick
"Tell Me Pretty Gypsy," Miss Marie Sam
"My Little Bimbo," Miss Anna Porch
"He Went in Like a Lion," Ed Scherer
Baritone solo, "Pretty Kitty Kelly," Clarence Schryver End song, "Down Barcelona Way," Will Houghtaling
"Left All Alone Again Blues," Robert Buchanan
Solo, Eight Belles, Novelty number, Miss Caroline Bruck assisted by Miss Agnes Bruck, Miss Agnes Kraus, Miss Cecelia Kraus, Miss Kathryn Nicholson, Miss Emma Spader, Miss Anastasia Weber, Miss Elizabeth Woerner.
Mad Song, "It Will Never Be Dry in Heaven," Robert Brasso
"That Certain Something," The Messrs. Agnes and Cecelia Kraus
"Avalon," Joseph Kubecok
Closing Chorus: Entire Company

After the entertainment Balfe's Orchestra will supply dance music for those so inclined. Refreshments will be served by the Christian Mothers and the Children of Mary, in the dining salon. The performance will be repeated tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

Small Costumes Patterned After Large Ones Are Smart.

Plaided, Plaided and Embroidered Clothes Prove Charming for the Little Folks.

Dresses and coats are no less smart these days for being caught while they are young. You see, observes a fashion writer, small costumes pattern after large ones and so, of course, they are smart.

Autumn costumes for grown-ups are very much plaided, plaided and embroidered, hence small clothes must follow suit. When these various styles are fittingly adapted to the needs of little people the effect is nothing short of charming.

How do you like the clever adaptation of the eon jacket and the plaided skirt?

Here there is a wonderful opportunity for using bright colors, since the skirt may be made of Roman stripe or plaid material. Suppose you use a red woolen for the little jacket and striped red and brown for the skirt?
The collar and cuffs may be made of plain white organdie or batiste and basted to the frock so that they may be easily removed for washing. A single large smoked-pearl button should be used to fasten the jacket in front.

Perhaps you would prefer a dress which takes its color from the autumn woods, as they appear in the earlier season, you know, just when the leaves change their color. Make the jacket of dull green and the skirt of plaid or striped material in which there is much brown, green and red.

Among the materials you have a choice of serge, gabardine, jersey cloth, duvety, twill or flannel.

Let us say you use orange-colored duvety for the top and a plaid in which there is much orange and brown for the skirt. A lapel is placed on the skirt to make up for the absence of Child's Coat and Skirt Suit.

lapels at the collar. This, of course, should be made of the orange-colored material.

If plaid does not please you, then use plain-colored velours. Navy, dark brown, maize or dull green will be most attractive.

BREAKFAST COAT VS. KIMONO

Latest Garment Is Regarded More Societable and Excellent as Pullman Robe.

Simplicity is the rule in the best undergarments shown this season, and fine sheer cottons are extremely popular.

Negligees and boudoir apparel shown for fall and winter adhere to simple-ty in line, although rather gorgeous materials are liked. Printed chiffons and georgettes and the lovely printed silks in soft weaves are used for breakfast coats, which are usually untrimmed except for ruffings of soft tulle or ribbon.

The breakfast coat, generally a garment with a long, plain upper section reaching about to the hips, and a pathered or plaided skirt attached, making it full figure length, is an excellent Pullman robe. The woman who wears one for traveling looks much more presentable in the early morning than when she dons a kimono. A matching bandeau or headscarf cap is not a bad investment. Nearly all the more elaborate negligees shown are equipped with hooded caps to match. Some have sheer sets, negligees, hooded cap and chemise, made of checked chiffon, are among the novelties now being offered.

For Small Girls.

Combinations of black and white are greatly favored for children's dresses.
One charming little dress of black velour recently seen had the touch of white carried out by bands of white satin at neck and sleeves. Two dressy suits are shown in black velvet frocks in black, cut low in the neck and sleeves, and worn with gaiters of white flax lace.

FOR WOMEN.

BURROUGHS AND FORD IN CONTEST

Naturalist and Auto Manufacturer Engage in Chopping Trees At Yama Farms—Result A Tie.

Napanoch, Nov. 15.—John Burroughs and Henry Ford, guests for the week-end at Yama Farms, astonished the natives Saturday by engaging in a tree chopping contest. Seizing two sharp axes and donning overalls, they liked off to a piece of woodland near the hotel grounds, and soon their blows could be heard resounding in mighty whacks.

John had politely told Henry that he could "do" him in a contest of this kind, both as to skill and endurance, and the challenge had been promptly accepted. Mrs. Ford cautioned her husband to be careful in pitting himself against the great naturalist.

"You know he is training," she said, "and you are not. Now do be careful."

But Mr. Ford disclaimed all advice. "I'll leave it to Tom, here. (Editor) if I ever refused a dare," he said.

Harry Firestone acted as referee while Mr. Barrett, secretary for Mr. Burroughs, and Carl Ackley, sculptor and naturalist, kept the tally.

The score was a tie, three maples and one sapling falling to each contestant. The referee declared all bets off, and ordered the competitors to shake hands and call it a draw.

Mrs. Thomas A. Edison kept her famous husband company on a brisk walk in the ten above zero air, and by luncheon time the guests were ready for a good meal.

This is the annual reunion of the four friends—Edison, Ford, Burroughs and Firestone.

They enjoy the opportunity to get away from the world of work and business, and just take life easy.

Carl Ackley, a famous elephant hunter of the African wilds; Dr. Carl Lumholz, an explorer; Roy Andrews, who goes to Central Asia with his wife to study of prehistoric man for the American Museum of Natural History; Miss Ethel Newcomb, pianist; Jan Sikes, Dutch musician; Dr. F. B. Turck, biologist, and Lady Eaton are other guests here.

Henry Ford found time to state that there is "nothing doing" in the way of purchasing a Dutchess county estate for himself. He has never brought himself up to the point of breaking away from his regular places of residence, except for these visits to the Hudson Valley.

Mrs. Harry James, southern beauty, was in St. Moritz when she met Alexander Elsmann, wealthy engineer. While chatting she told him she had just received word of a divorce from her husband, Harry James, wealthy cotton man. Mr. Elsmann proposed on the spot, but Mrs. James asked for time. When Elsmann learned that Mrs. James had engaged passage on the Baltic, he immediately arranged to return on the same ship. He was accepted on the high seas, and the wedding date set for Thanksgiving Day.

Many Film Pictures Per Second.

Taking motion pictures at the rate of some 15,000 a second with a camera and lens, is the recent achievement of a French scientist. High-speed photography is not new, but heretofore has depended upon electric-spark shadows, without lenses, and lacking sufficient illumination for clear definition. The mechanism of the camera consists of an aluminum reel, electrically driven at 3,000 r. p. m. and winding film at 164 feet a second. At this rate pictures 2 inches high are made about 10,000 times a second, larger and smaller surfaces being exposed at respectively slower and faster speeds, says the August Popular Mechanics Magazine in an article carrying a full-page illustration.

The illuminant is a stream of high-tension electric sparks with a frequency of about 50,000 a second, produced at the focal point of a concave reflector, and kept from flaming by a current of air.

Nippon Honors Her Soldiers.

On a hill near Port Arthur, China, there looms a grand memorial tower, and just back of it are buried, in unmarked trenches, the bodies of 22,000 of the bravest soldiers of Nippon, says the French Free Press. It is a shrine for every loyal Japanese. On the side of another hill he buried all that is mortal of 15,000 Koreans, and there also a monument has been raised. These were the men who died during the siege of Port Arthur, which continued 13 years ago and continued for almost a year. Although Port Arthur was given back to China by the Japanese in reparation for all practical purposes a stronghold of Nippon, and it is today more Japanese in character than China, and in likely to remain an active Japan in future, the soldiers who died by another war.

Domestic Tragedy.

"Henrietta," said Mr. Newton, "you never ask me to water the rubber tree or put the oil out any more."

"It has been attended to, I consider."

"And you don't mind how many chickens I smoke now how late I stay out at night."

"I consider you able to take care of yourself."

"Henrietta, many a time has been checked because of ambition and high aims, promotion. You have grown to be so concerned in women's suffrage I don't believe you care what becomes of me."

Robbing It In.

A Philadelphia lawyer was showing up very poorly on the radio and he remarked to Mrs. R. H. Norton, the golf player, who was standing by, "You see, it seems to me the more I play the worse I play."

"You're playing a good deal, then, aren't you?" said Mrs. Norton.

This remarkable picture, one of the first to arrive in this country, shows the body of Lord Mayor Mac Swiney of Cork lying in state in the city hall of that city, to which it was brought from England. The Lord Mayor was clad in the uniform of an officer of the Irish Republican Army. The priest standing at the left of the casket is Father Dominic, the mayor's chaplain. At the right is Sam Mac Swiney, the late mayor's brother. Soldiers of the volunteer army are in attendance. The body was viewed by thousands of Sinn Féin and Irish sympathizers before the public funeral.

Rufus, the dog hero of the desert, who has saved many lives, is ending his declining days in a dog sanatorium at Pasadena, Cal., where he is well cared for. The end of the dog is not far off, says Our Dumb Animals in a recent issue. He is quiet and feeble after his many long and weary journeys over the burning and blinding sands with his master's side. He will no doubt soon fall asleep.

Less Well-known Rufus and Rufus were rescued prisoners in a life-saving project that received nearly support and ready recognition. Together they fared forth on their mission of mercy, Rufus carrying standards and cans of paint, Rufus took the responsibility of the mission and pulled the strings. While the men set up the guideposts, or painted the water signs, the dog saw.

MEMORIAL SERVICE AT HIGH SCHOOL

The Armistice Sunday memorial service for our country's soldier dead, held at the high school auditorium, showed that these present had a keen appreciation of the services rendered by the youths who made the supreme sacrifice during the great war. Like services were being held Sunday, all over the country in keeping with the Armistice Sunday proclamation of the president. The exercises at the high school were presided over by Thomas F. Coughlin, president of Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion.

Following an opening selection by the orchestra, the Very Rev. Dean Hickey pronounced the invocation. The few words of greeting by the chairman, Mr. Coughlin, were indeed worthy of thoughtful consideration. Calling to mind that many of the comrades of Kingston Post had paid the supreme sacrifice, he further noted that they had given their lives for a great and noble purpose, so that it was not alone that they had died in service, earning their uttermost gratitude; it was for us to realize how they had died, that we might the better live. Quoting from some noted writer, Mr. Coughlin said that "A nation was judged by the festivals it keeps, and America must ever hold sacred the memorial of its sons who have given their lives for its sacred cause."

Realizing that it was the absolute abandonment of selfishness that made our hero dead give up their lives, the speaker impressed his hearers with the thought that by understanding their sacrifice we might by following their example become better men and women and better citizens.

Following the singing of two verses of America by the audience accompanied by the orchestra, Mr. Coughlin announced that Madame Errera had most graciously consented to enrich the program by singing. The large high school auditorium was filled to its farthest corner with the rich, beautiful tones of Madame Errera's wonderful voice, as she made of Gounod's "Ave Maria" through the universal language of the music a mighty prayer, rather than any vocal selection. It was indeed thrilling.

The chairman then introduced the Rev. Gregory Mabry, chaplain of the Kingston Post, who recently elected chaplain of the American Legion of New York state, who addressed the appreciative audience as follows:

With a fine appreciation of spiritual values the president of these United States has bidden America commemorate those who laid down their lives in the late war, our soldier and sailor dead who paid the price on war's cross that other men might live. And so, all over America today hosts of people have turned their minds to contemplation of those who died in the line of duty and on the field of honor. It is a noble duty we have set about to perform, the duty of remembering before the throne of the Almighty God those who, in their brief hour of life, did so well the one great thing that was required of them—the giving of their lives for humanity. Whatever weakness of the flesh they may have had, individual or character faults, are overshadowed by their final supreme act; we can but love them now—and pray for them. Their memories are our greatest heritage; their act is humanity's most precious treasure. They are our greatest inspiration. They are our best assurance of what we can be. May light perpetual shine upon them, and rest eternal be their portion!

But what an hour this must be for the war profiteer! How futile must his ill-gotten riches seem! What an hour for the military and civilian slacker! How worthless must their precious lives seem. What an hour for those who so persistently ignore the suffering and the poverty of the disabled ex-service man, who make him an object of charity! Millions of ghostly fingers point at them. Well might they with Paul cry to be slain in order that they might be delivered of this accursed lot. But the ghosts in Plunder's fields will not lay; they still seek to laid humanity.

And it is a solemn moment for us all, for the world they died for—knows they died in vain—unless—unless—Ah, man, find out the way. You know a moment, two years ago!

Yes, but we forget for what they died. Let us fail to catch the flaming torch of sacrifice and carry it on, but we fail to live the lives that would be worthy of their death. As a nation we are perilously near following the Parisian advice to "rest, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die." Such an attitude toward life is pessimism in its worst and most hideous form. They call us back to a sane, virile optimism, the only thing that can create in us an intelligent and living love of God and country.

Now the hour of work of our present discontent is that we have been assuming a negative attitude. And a man is never strong who is of a negative character. Curiosity, doubt, doubt, distrust, dependency, anger, discontent, bitterness—always weak on a man.

It is only when a man thinks over the subjects of his discontent and comes to positive convictions that he begins to grow strong. One is not stronger for doubting, but for overcoming his doubts.

A man is not stronger for his doubt. It is only when his faith makes him realize the strength of his strength, that he is stronger.

A man is not stronger for his doubt. It is only when his faith makes him realize the strength of his strength, that he is stronger.

ARMISTICE SUNDAY AT ST. JOSEPH'S

Knights of Columbus Pay Tribute to Soldiers in Fitting Memorial Sunday Evening—The Rev. Walter Henry, Speaker.

St. Joseph's Church was crowded Sunday evening at the Armistice Sunday exercises held under the auspices of Kingston Council, No. 275, Knights of Columbus. The exercises took the form of solemn musical vespers, the Rev. John H. Broyer, rector of the church, acting as celebrant with the Rev. Martin P. O'Garra, deacon, and the Rev. Charles McCabe as sub-deacon. The body of the church had been reserved for the knights and when they all been seated, the seating capacity was taxed to the utmost. The galleries were crowded with the women relatives of the members of the organization. Promptly at 8 o'clock the procession of acolytes and celebrants proceeded down the center aisle to the high altar while the fourth degree knights stood at attention with drawn swords. After a few words of welcome by Rector Broyer, the Holy Name choir of the church took up the musical program and in a most pleasing manner rendered the vespers. At the conclusion of the vespers, the Rev. Walter Henry, rector of St. John's Church, at The Clove, delivered a sermon on "Peace." He took as his theme that there could be no enduring peace in the world despite Hague conferences, leagues of nations, agreements and treaties, until all should observe the law of God, that men should "love God with thy whole soul, thy whole mind, and with all thy strength, and thy neighbor as thyself." He said that "when man shall walk in the way pleasing to God, then and only then shall there be peace in the world." Father Henry delivered a most impressive discourse and held his auditors until the very end.

The services closed with solemn benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament, during which the fourth degree knights who had been stationed in the form of a cross, stood at attention with crossed swords. The exercises closed with the singing of "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name" by the congregation.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

"I lay me down to sleep
With little thought or care,
Whether the waking had Me here or there.

"A bowing, burdened head
That only asks to rest
Unquestionably upon
A loving breast.

"My good right hand forgets
Its cunning now;
To march the weary march
I know not how.

"I am not eager, bold,
Nor strong—all that is passed;
I am ready, not to do,
At last, at last.

"My half-day's work is done,
And this is all my part;
I give a patient God
My patient heart.

"And grasp His banner still Though all its blue be dim;
These stripes no less than stars
Lead after Him."

And that is the spirit, my good comrades, that our buddies who have gone before us bid us have; that is what I feel their message is to us who carry on here. Let us cast away the pessimism of our day that expresses itself in a riot of selfishness, and let us remember in place thereof that all that comes into our lives here and now to harass and trouble us is but a preparation for the work that lies before us. And in so far as we are able to do men's work as men now, are we going to be men, fit to do men's work as men hereafter.

God grant them rest, and us courage.

The Very Rev. Dean Hickey pronounced the benediction and there came to a close, the service.

In Memoriam.

To our brave comrades who gave their lives that others might live; who nobly laid the supreme sacrifice upon the altar of human liberty; whose blood is mingled with the dust of foreign soil, making it hallowed ground whereon the foot of the oppressor shall not tread.

Hondout Presbyterian Church Pastor
At Armistice Day Services, Presentsents Congregation With Memorial of Boys Who Served in World War.

Armistice Day was fittingly observed with impressive services Sunday morning in the Hondout Presbyterian Church, and at the close of the service the Rev. Dr. Charles G. Ellis, pastor of the church, presented the congregation for a memorial picture containing the photographs of the boys of the church who served during the world war.

The Rev. Dr. Ellis in his sermon paid an eloquent tribute to the boys of our country who went forth with a smile to lay down their lives. It was entirely fitting and proper he said that a day should be set aside once a year to do honor to the boys of the world war. The Presbyterian Church had been more fortunate than some of the other churches in that none of its young men lost their lives, although some had been severely wounded and gassed, but all had returned at the close of the war.

Our boys had entered the war when it looked as though the Germans were sure of victory, and were plunging on toward Paris. It had been thought that our boys would not fight, but they were valiant soldiers was proven on the battlefields of Europe. In the battle of Chateau Thierry it was a boy from the church who had sixteen of his comrades shot down about him, but he fought on, and taking a German machine gun turned it upon the foe, and for that deed he was cited for bravery.

The pulpit of the church had been artistically decorated with flowers and a large American flag, while in the rear from the choir loft hung the church's service flag. At the close of Dr. Ellis's sermon the service flag was slowly raised disclosing the memorial picture underneath.

Appropriate music was rendered during the service by the large chorus choir under the leadership of Miss Virginia Los Kamp, who also sang a patriotic solo. Miss Los Kamp, the soloist, and Miss Elsa Hiltibrant, the church organist, served with the Y. M. C. A. abroad helping entertain the soldier boys with music.

HERE AND THERE
ABOUT THE TOWN

There Are a Lot of People With Turkey Appetites and a Chuck Steak Income, but It is Better to Aim High Than Not Aim at All.

"I guess that eclipse of the sun must have given the cold wave a chance to slip in," remarked the customer as he held his hands toward the stove in the barber shop this morning.

"And I guess your guess is right," replied the busy barber in genial tones.

"If I was rich," continued the customer, reflectively, "I'd place my private yacht in commission, and it would be 'yo ho' and off to the south seas for the winter."

"Well," replied the barber, "that is all well and good, but you can't enjoy the national feast day without cold weather as a sauce to jazz your appetite."

"But," granted the customer, "as far as that goes I could enjoy turkey in the south seas as well as right here in Kingston."

"And you're remarking what you would do if you were rich," retorted the barber, "simply brings out the fact that there are a lot of folks with a turkey appetite on a chuck steak income."

"Well, dreaming about having plenty of cash never hurt anyone yet," remarked the customer.

"Maybe it didn't," replied the barber, "but I never heard of it helping any one yet unless they added a little pep and action as a side dish."

"Well, you may be right," acceded the customer.

"Sure I am right," retorted the barber. "The great fact is that a lot of people overlook it that it is better to aim high than never to aim at all."

"And there are a lot of folks who never hit what they aim at any way,"
said the customer.

"I agree with you on that proposition," replied the barber, "but they are that much better off for making the effort than to just sit down and dream about what they would like to be."

"Well, pleasant dreams are very enjoyable," argued the customer.

"Sure," replied the barber, "but they are like the dollar bill; they don't last very long."

"Just the same I know what I would do if I had a million dollars,"
said the customer.

"Oh, well, what's the use of arguing," retorted the barber, "it is just another case of you tell 'em bread you 'got the dough.'"

The combination of two great foods

Troco is a pure, dainty, appetizing product made from two of the most nutritious natural foods the world produces—snowy fat from coconuts and pasteurized milk.

Vigorous tropic races depend upon coconuts for their principal food. Milk is the standby of the temperate zone.

Combined you get fancy Troco

Churn this rich coconut fat with milk—twice pasteurized—develop perfect flavor by exacting care and supreme skill.

Do this churning in a brand new plant up-to-the-minute in every detail of equipment—
And you get sweet Troco, delicate Troco—the deluxe brand of nut margarine.

A butter expert, Mr. A. E. Hoffman, who has spent 30 years making and judging butter and teaching butter making, has put the true butter flavor into Troco.

He supervises every detail of the making,
has standardized Troco quality.

It may cost more

This standardized perfection may cost a

NEWBURGH 12, KINGSTON H. S. 0

But Game Will Be Protested—Coach Hall Withdraws Team in Third Quarter When Officials Fail to Stop Unfair Tactics by Newburghers.

Kingston High School's football eleven met defeat at the hands of Newburgh Academy at the game played in Newburgh on Saturday afternoon. The game was brought to an end in the third quarter, when Coach Hall found it necessary to call his team off the field. At that time the score stood 12-0 in favor of the "Hilly City" team.

The game was a repetition of the sample of slugging that the Newburgh team gave during the game played here three weeks ago. Superintendent of the Schools Hall stated over the telephone on Friday that in case of any slugging in the game on Saturday by McKeever or any others of the team he would immediately withdraw the Newburgh team from the game and thereby forfeit it to Kingston High School. For some reason or other, he did not carry this out, and the slugging went on uninterrupted, until Coach Hall, fearing that the continuance of the game in such fashion might result in serious injury, withdrew the Kingston team from the field.

Newburgh guaranteed that they would see to it that there were certified officials to officiate at the game. However, when the local outfit got to the field they found that the Newburgh team had failed to get anyone who was competent to handle the whistle. They stated that they had not gotten anybody yet, but that they would do so within a short time. Nobody appeared, and Newburgh substituted three men, all rather closely connected with the Newburgh Academy, to act as the officials. Two of them are believed to be assistant coaches in the school, and naturally, they would side somewhat with their home team. In fact, they were taken up with the possibility of bringing a victory to Newburgh that they "failed to see" any slugging or two interferences by a Newburgh man when Kingston tried a forward pass. The second time that the Newburgh officials attempted to get away with the "blind gag" Coach Hall decided that he had gone far enough with that sort of stuff and called his men off the field.

The crowd which was at the game showed that they were far from being good sportsmen and more than once during the game swarmed onto the field so that the Kingston runner could not possibly get anywhere on the field without bucking the Newburgh team and the crowd. After the local team went off the field Coach Hall was insulted by a crowd of ruffians, and several Kingston girls who were attending the game were likewise rudely insulted.

Without a doubt, this game will be protested and as a result of the protest Newburgh might find they are out of the league. The league was organized to promote clean sportsmanship among the schools and will not tolerate a team that cannot play the game fair and square.

Solving Help Problem.
The general department store of K. A. Sprague of Roscoe has made an offer to the three Sunday schools of Roscoe-Rockland that if each church will furnish three workers for one Saturday, he will give ten per cent of the cash sales of that day to the church furnishing the three workers that particular day—Liberty Register.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAM'S FRIDAY

The local municipal service board held examinations Friday evening at the city hall to make up eligible lists from which the board of education could appoint a clerk in the office of Principal Lewis of the high school, and a janitor for the high school. An examination for the job of clerk in the board of public works was also held.

Six passed the examination for high school janitor. The six and their rating follows: W. S. Campbell, 45 Clifton avenue, 92 per cent; Francis C. Merritt of Furnace street, 80 per cent; Edward Long, 54 Brewster street, 86 per cent; Elmer Wood, 25 East St. James street, 85 per cent; Left Elmendorf, 83 Elmendorf street, 84 per cent; and Edward C. Quimby, No. 55 Andrew street, 75 per cent.

Three passed the examination for principal's clerk, Mary Lawrence, 90 per cent; Marion Neice, 51 per cent; and Mary C. Keresman, 75 per cent.

Two passed the examination for board of public works clerk, Mrs. Erma J. Brewer of No. 116 Pearl street, 96 per cent; and Miss Catherine Molyneux of East Chester street, 89 per cent. Mrs. Brewer has been filling the position temporarily for the past few months.

NURSES GRADUATE WEDNESDAY NEXT

The young women who graduate this year from the training school for nurses of the Kingston City Hospital have issued invitations for their graduating exercises for Wednesday evening of this week at the Knights of Columbus Home.

All members of the auxiliary are cordially invited to attend and bring friends, but the invitation is also extended to anyone who is interested in the hospital, in the school and in the work.

Young ladies who are contemplating taking up the profession of nursing will find the program of particular interest as the address of the evening by Dr. George F. Chandler will approach the subject from a new angle, and show the nurse's importance to the community as a teacher of health as well as a caretaker in sickness.

Miss Ada Eldridge of Albany is known as a fine speaker, will also be on the program, which will be of great interest to the general public. The exercises will commence at eight fifteen.

THANKSGIVING DAY SERVICES

The Thanksgiving Day services this year will be held in the high school auditorium and will be a union religious service. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. Dr. Charles G. Ellis, pastor of the Rockland Presbyterian Church. The free will offering will be, as usual, for the Industrial Home. It is expected that practically every church in the city will unite in this religious service on the holiday.

WATKINS EXPRESSES THANKS

To Those Who Have Ministered to Him in County Jail.

The following has been received by The Freeman, with a request to publish, from George Watkins, sentenced to serve from 20 years to life at Dannemora prison, by County Judge Fowler. Watkins having pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree:

County Prison.
To the Editor of The Daily Freeman: Will you please express my thanks through your paper to Lawyer Brinler, Judge Fowler and State Attorney Traver, and also the kind treatment I received from the sheriff's officers during my four months' stay. They all have treated me as a man, and I am thankful to God Almighty for their sending the Rev. A. L. Hughes, the pastor of the St. Mark's A. M. E. Church of this city, to me, and four of his members, who prayed for me, and with me. Please mention their names for me in your paper. Their names are as follows: Mrs. E. K. Crispell, Mrs. Mary C. Broadhead, Miss Margaret Broadhead and Mrs. S. C. Crispell. God did convert my soul and pardon me of my crime, made it plain to me. While the Rev. A. L. Hughes read and explained the Scriptures to me my burden did roll away. God bless them. This was the 16th of October, 1920, and on the last Sunday in October the Rev. A. L. Hughes with four of his members baptized me and two other inmates, white men. Yours in Christ,
GEORGE WATKINS.

Franklin Performance

Comfortable, because light weight and flexible construction cushion road shocks and hold the car to the road.

Reliable in winter or summer (no water to freeze or boil). Few punctures, and blow-outs practically unknown.

Long Life—the result of quality of Franklin materials and workmanship, which reduces wear and tear.

Ease of Handling, as typified by almost effortless steering, responsive brake action, quick acceleration, simplified controls.

Road Ability, which, in travel over roads as they come, establishes the Franklin record of "most miles per day."

Economy, based on the country-wide averages of Franklin owners, and re-affirmed by demonstrations of national importance—

30 miles to the gallon of gasoline
12,300 miles to the set of tires
30% slower yearly depreciation
